

I have been an avid XM radio listener for over a year now. It is the best $10 a month I have ever spent on anything. I believe that the traffic and weather channels on XM are helpful through out the nation for those who listen. I've checked the traffic and weather numerous times since I have had XM. I live near one of the largest cities in the US and having the traffic report on XM has helped tremendously when trying to make my way around the city. It would be unfair for those who pay every month to take away the benefits of XM radio. I have been given the opportunity to have quality programming to listen to while I am in my vehicle. I do not feel that it should be up to someone else to take that away. For those that do not support XM radio should at least respect the fact that if someone else wishes to have it then so be it. I do not feel that it should be looked at as a threat. It is just like having cable in your home. If you want it great, if you don't then that is fine too!Thank You,
